Dr. Urban and Mr. Hide - Childcare Center

Despang's second day care center is designed with the post-fossil age in mind and draws its inspiration from a range of different sources. It is situated on the 1970s university campus of Göttingen and interacts with both the concrete buildings and the flora and fauna. While the concept refers to Le Corbusier's "female" monol-house, the tectonic purity results from R.M. Schindler's Kings Road House. The material honesty also serves various pedagogical purposes and the new flooring from DLW Armstrong enhances the tactile quality of the linoleum with the use of aluminum particles, an exciting interior design that is not just attractive for children.
